Cosmovision appointed as latest Calibre UK partner for HQView range

Bradford, UK, 31 January 2012 – The latest addition to Calibre’s dedicated partner programme is Hong Kong-based Cosmovision. The specialist integrator and supplier will provide HQView processors, scalers switchers, scan convertors to businesses in the China and Hong Kong audio visual market.

Already hitting the ground running, Cosmovision recently supplied HQView320 to the Macau Science Museum for a large video wall exhibition display.

“For this application, we were searching through the Calibre UK product line and found HQView 320 to be a perfect fit. It processes signals up to 1080p to create a high-resolution image. The geometry correction, warping function and edge blending is utilised to create a soft edge blend and seamless projection display wall,” says Philip Yeung, Director Cosmovision.

“The addition of Calibre UK HQView to our product portfolio complements our existing product offering. We are now able to provide processing, scaling, warp, soft edge blending for projection applications.

“We expect Calibre UK to be popular in Hong Kong and China. As one of the world’s biggest financial centers, there are many convention and exhibition services looking to make the use out of best display technologies. Being a dynamic company, we always aim to serve our customers with the latest and new products including Calibre UK.

Tim Brooksbank, Chairman at Calibre UK adds: “Cosmovision is perfectly placed to offer our HQView product range to this specialist market and we look forward to hearing more about how our product innovations are used by this exciting market.”
